

Ken-Ton Big Picture TGIF

One student at a time.

THE SUN

The Big Picture Program was also featured in The Sun, the newest newspaper in the area. This local paper is a product of the Buffalo News and is focused on stories right in your community. The first few editions of The Sun were delivered to every home in the Ken-Ton area. The full-page article highlighting the great things happening at Big Picture was in one of those editions that wet out to everyone for free! The article is not presently available online though The Sun.

Big Picture Featured on WBBZ

Local educator highlights the program for TV

Inside the Classroom with Ashli Dreher is a local television program on WBBZ. The host is a NYS Teacher of the Year who usually interviews a teacher and highlights their classroom. Big Picture's Matt Chimera, 101 Adviser, was contacted to be on the program and Matt worked with Ms. Dreher to feature the entire Big Picture Program. Matt and Anne Blenk, Program Coordinator, were interviewed in the studio in early December. The show's videographer visited the program on December 18th to capture footage to be used for the program including a Pick Me Up activity, student exhibitions, independent work time, all the things that make Big Picture a non-traditional high school that is working for so many students.

A special thanks to Mike Kollmar, Head Custodian at KMS and Tim Ames, Buildings and Grounds Director of Facilities, and his crew that helped prepare the Big Picture wing of KMS to be camera ready.

The episode is currently in post-production and will air later this year.
